TO: U.S. SENATE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE

This follows the voice messages I left on the Committee's phone line (202-224-7703) at 1:29 pm on Friday, August 13th and at 9:35 am on Monday, August 16th, in the absence of pick-up by a live person. I have received no return call.

I did have a half-hour phone conversation on Monday with Chesney Mallory, a legislative aide with the Committee's minority Republican office, when she called me at about 12:45 pm in response to the voice message I had left two hours earlier, at 10:35 am, at the Senate office number of Ranking Member Grassley (202-224-3744). She was unaware of my voice message, left an hour before that, at 9:23 am, at the Committee's minority office number (202-224-5225), which I had called upon finding that number in the FAQ section of the Committee's website under the heading "How can the Committee be contacted?" Ms. Mallory explained that the Democratic majority controls the Committee's website and
