RE: Doris Sassower

To Whom It May Concern,

The above captioned patient was seen today for the treatment of a recurrent Trigger Finger. She was given a steroid injection. She must avoid key boarding, word processing or typing for at least 1 month.

She will be examined by me again in 3 weeks.

Yours sincerely,

Robert S. Reiffel, M.D.

Re: Doris Sassower

To Whom It May Concern:

The above named patient was seen in our office today with complaints of broncho-laryngitis, stating she was "up all night" coughing, nasally congested and felt chills. She has been suffering from severe laryngitis since Monday. X-rays taken. Clinical exam taken confirm an acute bronchitis condition. Prescribed antibiotic, cough medication and bed rest. She was advised to return for a follow up visit on Wednesday March 29.
