

Center for Judicial Accountability

From: David Liebschutz <dliebschutz@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, April 26, 2016 9:38 PM
To: Center for Judicial Accountability
Subject: Re: Thank you, Dean Lane! May you lead the way to building scholarship & informed discussion...the state budget!

Please remove me from this list.

Thank you.

David Liebschutz

On Tue, Apr 26, 2016 at 4:53 PM, Center for Judicial Accountability <elena@judgewatch.org> wrote:

Dear Dean Lane,

Thank you for your call this morning. As discussed, our March 23, 2016 verified second supplemental complaint in our citizen-taxpayer action implements your important law review article “Albany’s Dysfunction Denies Due Process” in the context of the constitutionally-regulated budget process -- and cites to your article at ¶¶365, 423. The link to the second supplemental complaint is: <http://www.judgewatch.org/web-pages/searching-nys/budget/3-23-16-osc-2nd-supp-complaint.htm>.

I am eager for your expert opinion – and your help in building dialogue among constitutional scholars, the bar associations, “good government groups”, and by the media about the mountain of constitutional, statutory, and rule violations which the second supplemental complaint chronicles – all denying legislative due process – and totally upending the constitutional design for the budget, laid out in Article VII, Sections 1-7 and Article IV, Section 7. Most important in this regard are the 12th, 13th, and 16th causes of action – and you may want to start by reading them FIRST.

Also, as discussed, here are the following two links:

(1)to your February 26, 2009 testimony before the Temporary Senate Committee on Rules and Administration Reform:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?feature=player_embedded&v=W6A1oFIX7_Y. Senator Valesky’s comment about the budget and request for the Brennan Center’s assistance in the Senate’s crafting of budget reform, in addition to legislative reform – and your response,