Dear Ms. Sassower,

I write with a request concerning the above appeal.

As you'll recall, the parties' stipulation indicates that the record in Center for Judicial Accountability, Inc. v. Cuomo, No. 1788-2014, is also part of the record in the present appeal. (See R1387-1388.) That record, however, was not reproduced.

In the defendant-respondents' brief, to be filed Sept. 21, I plan to cite some materials excerpted from the record in the prior action. To bring those materials conveniently before the Court, I would like to file a supplemental appendix containing the excerpts I cite. (I don't yet know exactly what those materials will be at this point, but they will all be part of the record in the prior action.)

Would you consent to my filing a supplemental appendix containing excerpts from the record in the prior action? Please let me know, so that I can indicate in the motion whether the opposing side has consented.

To the extent you feel it is necessary to add further material after reading our brief, I will reciprocally consent to your filing a supplemental appendix, with your reply brief, containing excerpts from the prior record.

Thank you in advance for your courtesy.

Very truly yours,

Frederick A. Brodie
