I have received no response from any of you to my below April 10th e-mail. Have you responded?

Pursuant to your professional and ethical responsibilities, please advise, IMMEDIATELY, so that I may take appropriate remedial steps.

Time is of the essence.

Thank you.

This follow up our phone conversation on December 23, 2015, when you were News Director of WRVO Public Media – and the fact-specific, evidence-supported e-mail I sent you later that day pertinent thereto.

The e-mail is attached. As I have no record of any response, please advise whether you responded – and, if not, why not – and what you did to verify the facts of which I advised you, both in the phone conversation and the e-mail.

Additionally, kindly furnish me with the requested contact information for “editors and executives at NPR and Public Media” responsible for oversight over Albany correspondents Karen DeWitt and Matt Ryan – each recipients of my December 23, 2015 e-mail, from whom I also have no record of response – and whose dishonest, cover-up journalism has continued, unabated, to the present date, misleading the public on issues of governance and about incumbent public officers, would-be public officers -- and rigging elections.
