

Center for Judicial Accountability, Inc. (CJA)

From: Center for Judicial Accountability, Inc. (CJA) <elena@judgewidth.org>
Sent: Wednesday, December 23, 2020 11:58 AM
To: 'sgreenberger@pewtrusts.org'; 'bbarrett@pewtrusts.org'; 'nstraub@pewtrusts.org'
Cc: 'jratner@pewtrusts.org'
Subject: Questions & request for "original reporting" -- Your selection of "New York is Ousting Older Judges to Save Money. They're Fighting Back" (New York Times, Benjamin Weiser) as one of Stateline's "Top State Stories 12/22"

TO: Stateline/The Pew Charitable Trusts

Executive Editor Scott Greenberger

Managing Editor Barbara Barrett

Deputy Managing Editor Noelle Straub

Via a google alert, I received your yesterday's "What We're Reading: Top State Stories 12/22" – with its December 21, 2020 New York Times article "New York is Ousting Older Judges to Save Money. They're Fighting Back" by Benjamin Weiser.

I have questions about your selection of the article – and would appreciate if someone would call me so that I can give you contextual information about it to support essential "original reporting" by Stateline.

Thank you.

Elena Sassower, Director
Center for Judicial Accountability, Inc. (CJA)
www.judgewidth.org
914-421-1200
elena@judgewidth.org